Chandra Asri Invests in Indonesian Talent with new offices and scaling up of 200 new shared services jobs in Jakarta

Jakarta, 28 January 2026 – PT Chandra Asri Pacific Tbk (Chandra Asri Group), a leading energy, chemical, and infrastructure solutions provider in Southeast Asia, has officially commenced the operations of PT Chandra Asri Sentral Solusi (CASS) as the Group's Shared Service Center (SSC), reinforcing operational efficiency and supporting business growth across the Group.

As a Shared Service Center, CASS provides comprehensive back-office services covering finance, human resources, procurement, and customer operations, enabling greater efficiency, standardization, and adaptability to the evolving needs of the Group across its growing operations in Energy, Chemicals and Infrastructure, in Indonesia, Singapore and beyond.

One of CASS's current key focus areas is supporting the operations of Aster Chemicals & Energy Pte, Ltd (Aster), a leading energy and chemical solutions provider in Singapore and the Asia Pacific region. Aster is a joint venture between Chandra Asri Group and Glencore, one of the world's largest natural resource companies, combining the legacy of Singapore's first oil refinery with advanced petrochemical operations. Through CASS, regional business activities are managed more efficiently through centralized service support from Indonesia, enhancing operational effectiveness across geographies.

Lenny Woen, President Director of PT Chandra Asri Sentral Solusi, states "The commencement of CASS's operations marks an important milestone in strengthening the Group's operational foundation through an integrated and sustainable Shared Service Center. CASS enhances operational efficiency and governance across the Group, while also supporting our long-term growth and transformation agenda."

Phillippe Pangestu, Chief Financial Officer of PT Chandra Asri Sentral Solusi, added "CASS is positioned to support not only entities within Chandra Asri Group, but also, over time, external partners with scalability and AI-enabled ecosystems in mind. We are excited as we scale up to 200 employees and more, with this new business that forms the core of our Group's expanded strengths."

Looking ahead, CASS is set to extend its services to additional entities across the Chandra Asri Group, supported by enhanced capabilities and operational readiness, in line with the Group's commitment to integrated and efficient regional operations. Through the operation of CASS, Chandra Asri Group strengthens its long-term competitiveness while supporting talent development and the creation of skilled employment opportunities in Indonesia across key business support functions.
